

#3917 — Chapel of the Transfiguration at Moose beside the Snake River in Jackson Hole, Wyoming.
This little chapel, built of native logs, faces the majestic peaks of the Tetons. Through the window that fills one end, the worshippers can look up to the eternal peaks.

We hope you are feeling fine and are home by this time.
Tommy Jack said to tell you he is standing on both feet and feels pretty good. We drove through the Teton National Lancaster Co.
Park today. The scenery is beautiful. Love, Jack and Mary
